The Trusted Travel Blogs Network was created to help you find great travel blogs and the useful information contained in them. Trusted Travel Blogs have two primary things in common:

1. they're recognized for consistently high publishing standards and
2. their content is not influenced by undisclosed affiliations with third parties.

The Trusted Travel Blogs Network is a community project and is therefor user monitored. Our members love reading and writing travel blogs and keeping the community fresh and clean.

Contact Timen if you have questions, concerns about content on the network, or if you would like to nominate your blog for inclusion in the network. Email: contact at trustedtravelblogs dot com.

Trusted Travel Blogs Network

Just a few rules that we hold ourselves to…

‡ All travel related blogs are open for nomination by anyone. Nominations are screened and considered and, if approved, become a member of the network.
‡ Members must adhere to all requirements detailed in this document. If a member fails to adhere to all requirements, membership will be revoked.
‡ Content on member blogs must be accurately attributed to authors. Any affiliations must be clearly and fully disclosed so that conflict of interest could potentially and easily be deduced.
‡ Members must update their blog on a regular basis.
‡ Members must place the Trusted Travel Blogs Network logo either in the sidebar or on the about page of their blog and must link it to <http://www.trustedtravelblogs.com/>.
‡ Concerns about adherence to the requirements should be directed to the current acting community supervisor.
‡ The current acting community supervisor and contact person is Timen Swijtink: contact at trustedtravelblogs dot com.
‡ Decisions made by the community supervisor can be rejected by a simple majority of network members.
‡ The Trusted Travel Blogs Network front page must link to all members. Content on member blogs may also be searchable via the Trusted Travel Blogs Network website.